

B.R.M. MK-44 FR

Limited "Felix Rosenqvist" Edition

Conceived to combine comfort with purpose, the B.R.M. MK-44 FR is one of the lightest automatic chronographs in the world.

Designed in collaboration with Swedish Formula 3 star Felix Rosenqvist, the 2014 Grand Prix de Pau winner, this cutting-edge timepiece has been crafted to encapsulate the core principles of motor racing, meeting the highest performance standards while keeping weight at an absolute minimum.

Made from makrolon, a thermoplastic molding compound used in the windows of the most advanced racing cars, the bespoke case guarantees unrivalled heat resistance and stability properties, while lugs, buckle and pushes are made from titanium and hollowed out to reduce weight.

The metal used on the case back is Fortal® HR – an ultra-light aluminium alloy frequently applied within the motorsport industry.

Both front and back feature sapphire glass to ensure complete clarity, with the "Felix Rosenqvist" signature engraved discretely on the back.

The strap is customised for maximum comfort, adding style and breathability to this exquisite watch.

In motorsport, time is everything; it's what you're measured against, and it's what you're trying to beat. Time is what drives you forward, day in, day out.
